

Red Team Exercise

A simulated adversarial exercise that mimics real-world attacks to assess an organization's security capabilities and resilience of its systems and operations.

